

Be a seed detective

- Seeds need to get away from their parent plants to give them the space to grow

They can be dispersed in a number of ways:

- By the wind
- Getting trapped in animals' fur
- Being eaten by animals/birds
- By the seed pod exploding

- Look carefully at your seeds
- What clues does your seed give you?
- How do you think your seed is dispersed?
- Why do you think this?
- Be prepared to argue your case
